Social policy is a fundamental pillar of the European Union,

According to INE (2012) one of the most vulnerable groups suffering social exclusion, is the immigrant population with a low mastery of the host language and reading skills.

Illiteracy and lack of knowledge of the host language are direct causes of social exclusion and poverty.

Illiteracy has a direct impact on the development of daily life, limits citizen participation and the exercise of the individual rights. It directly affects the duration of the employment and it has a direct impact on health, maternity/paternity and children language skills development, as well.

The ORALPHA project has been conceived with the overall objective of promoting social inclusion in illiterate young/adult new citizens and refugees whose mother tongue differs from the host language.

ORALPHA project aims at solving existing problems, considering that not all European countries have the possibility to provide training in the host language skills.

ORALPHA pretends to improve the practice of new citizens host language teaching in its basic skills (literacy and oral communication) at a European level.

Comprehended in three different phases: preliminary, implementation and evaluation, for an entire duration of three years, the project is composed by those main proposed activities:

- ⇒ 4 transnational meetings of the coordinator group;
- ⇒ 2 training workshops in order to share and evaluate the experiences;
- ⇒ The drafting of ORALPHA Theoretical Methodological Guide, in order to draw and gather the results of the preliminary and implementation phases.

ORALPHA project has established the following tangible results:

1. To publish a European theoretical and methodological manual of good practices as a trainers guide.
2. To provide on-line training for trainers courses based on the guide results.
